

The title of the course	Global phenomena: theories and interpretations
Faculty	Faculty of Management and Transport
The level of studies	Bachelor degree
Semester	6
The form of classes and number of hours	15 h
Classes conducted for Polish students. Erasmus students can join them	No.
Language of instruction	English
The number of ECTS	1
Teacher	dr Aneta Bąk-Szołucha
The aims of the course (maximum 500 characters)	This subject examines the paradoxes of contemporary globalization. Through lectures, discussions and student presentations, we will study the cultural, linguistic, social and political impact of globalization across broad international borders.
The content of the course: main topics and key ideas	What is globalization? Theories of globalisation. The global economy. Political globalization. Cultural Globalization. Global Communications. Globalization and the Environment. Globalization and War - global conflicts.
Didactics methods	Assignments, class discussions, class presentations.
Course requirements	-
Literature (basic and supplementary)	https://www.piie.com/microsites/globalization/what-is-globalization#introduction-AhF37Q07Ib Making globalization work / Joseph E. Stiglitz Theories of globalization / Barrie Axford
The effects of the education - knowledge - skills - social competences	Knowledge: A student has extensive knowledge about the basic theories of globalisation. Skills: A student possesses skills at preparing an oral presentation (along with a written summary). Social competences: A student can actively participate in class and is involved in activities conducted during the discussion. Knowingly, competently and creatively responds to the questions asked by the lecturer and other students.